Tacoma Power – Comprehensive

- TPU supports consistent statutory recognition of hydropower as a renewable, emissions-free resource.
- TPU supports proposals for greenhouse gas emissions reduction that achieve the most efficient carbon emission reduction at reasonable cost to utility customers, and are market-based, economy-wide, and coordinated with regional or national strategies. If policymakers implement greenhouse gas reduction policies, they should appropriately acknowledge and credit hydropower as a carbon-free generating resource and recognize the role the electricity sector could play in reducing carbon emissions in the transportation and heating/building sectors and in the production of new clean transportation fuels. Any changes in federal or state policy must be sensitive to rate pressures, especially on lower-income customers.
- TPU supports the development of coordinated and complementary state, regional, and federal energy and carbon policies. A stable and integrated regulatory environment is necessary for protecting ratepayer interests and successfully engaging in market participation.
- TPU opposes the imposition by federal or state government of pole attachment requirements and ratemaking formulas.
